When analysing future participant leaver scenarios, it can take some work on your part to understand their share plan entitlement. For this reason, we're introducing a new Employee Lifecycle Tool, to project participant holdings and reduce the manual effort in planning ahead for leaver events.

Employee Lifecycle is an online tool that helps administrators quickly and simply view the effect of an employment status change on a participant's share allocation.

Administrators can also check what would happen to the share allocation of a participant if they were terminated or retired at a specific date.

All modelling results can be exported and saved to PDF, which makes it easier for you to respond to queries from your participants.
